Mrs. Farrah Villalobos age 35 lived in Hidalgo County Texas. She was beaten February 18, 2011 by her husband, Pedro Villalobos and his brother, Daniel Villalobos. The men accused her of cheating on her husband. The punishment for cheating is death. She was disconnected from life support February 25, 2011. She died from blunt force trauma to the head had caused internal bleeding and swelling of the brain. Pedro Cantu Villalobos, 26, and his 22-year-old brother, Daniel Cantu Villalobos, confessed to beating Pedro's wife, Farrah Lynn Villalobos, 29, on February 19, 2011. Neighbors told deputies they saw the men beat the woman outside her home. Witnesses said the brothers dragged the woman into the home, where they continued the early-morning beating. Not one neighbor called the police. Please read VILLALOBOS v. STATE what these two men did to Farrah Villalobos is indefensible. They should have been executed not sentenced to life in prison. They can still breathe. Something is wrong with our judicial system. We need to stop bragging about how great it is and fix it. Why are these two men still breathing? These men enjoyed beating Farrah Villalobos they felt justified in their disrespect. One witness said they repeatedly kicked her while she was on the ground. I do not know what constitute first-degree capital murder in Texas but these men should be put to death. These men took pleasure in what they did. They were gods meting out punishment to the sinner. They probably went into the house and had a beer. Kicking someone to death is hard work. Since Mrs. Villalobos got what she deserved when will Messieurs Pedro and Daniel Villalobos get what they deserve? Please do not say in the hereafter because that is not good enough. Hell as punishment is not good enough for these two men.

This book is part of a twelve year study into the murders of 20,000 American women. It contains extremely sensitive information; our apologies and condolences to the reader if this information is regarding a relative, love one and or friend. Although this book contains in certain areas explicit descriptions of violence, extreme care was taken to allow the victims as much dignity as possible. As you read you will realize these descriptions were made to expand our understanding of violence and to prevent violence against women and children and violence in our communities.

An Explanatory Note To Our Readers

This book was written to be purchased and read by adult men and women. If you are a young adult, a person who is not eligible to vote in his or her state, we suggest you read this book with your parent's permission and supervision. The information discussed is not pornographic it is historical, but it is a subject young adults should discuss with their parents or a responsible adult.

Caution

This book is part of a study into the murders of 20,000 American Women. It contains extremely sensitive information; our apologies and condolences to the reader if this information is regarding a relative, love one and or friend. Although this book contains in certain areas explicit descriptions of violence, extreme care was taken to allow the victims as much dignity as possible. As you read you will realize these descriptions were made to expand our understanding of violence and to prevent violence against women and children and violence in our communities.

We request that you do not read this book if you have been a victim of violence or have a male or female relative or child that has been a victim of violence. There is no way to escape the pain this book will produce. This information was difficult to research, to retrieve and extremely difficult to discuss in writing. The information is overwhelming and it is not possible to read this book without enduring excruciating pain. Pain is not our objective nor is sensationalism. Our objective is to bring about a permanent change in the status of the American woman and the women of the world. To meet this objective, we provide penetrating information. All too often, information regarding the death of an American female is taken as an isolated event, thereby making her death digestible and easy for the women of this country to accept. Although the murders are important, over time, the murders become inconsequential because many women think the murders have nothing to do with one's everyday life. Therefore, the full impact of the number of women murdered in this country is not appreciated. Collectively, the murder of over 200,000 American women is important when one can sit and read the cases of 20,000 women from this group. The information in this book is not being offered to sensationalize or exploit the death of these women. The information is being provided to bring recognition to their existence and their untimely deaths. We believe the women who paid the ultimate price for freedom should be immortalized. These women should never be forgotten.

This book was written in deference to the millions of women in the world who have lost their lives merely because they were women. Think of the girls in India who are raped so males can remain in control. If you have read the news out of Nigeria, you will understand males are fighting all over the world to remain in control. More than 300 school girls were taken from their families merely because they were females trying to learn to read. No one knows if these children will ever be returned home again. Women must wake to the fight for sovereignty.

Extreme care was taken in discussing the deaths of more than 20,000 American women. It was our wish to grant the victims as much dignity as humanly possible yet alert the women of this country of the horrors of their deaths. But how much dignity does a victim have when it is known she was stabbed more than 153 times? Again, we feel that you should not read this book if you have been a victim of violence or have a male or female relative or child who has been a victim of violence. If you choose to proceed we ask you to be brave, strength will come. There is much to learn. You will not put this book down without gaining knowledge. The Career Rapist especially will be hard reading, but as women we must stand together and face the monsters in life so we can live better lives and secure a future for our children. Although Do This in Remembrance of Me discusses the murder of 20,000 American women, the books are about life not death.

As you read the following information, please remain cognizant that you are reading case histories of crimes committed all over the United States. No one state has the same definition or punishment for any degree of murder, manslaughter or rape. The proof and qualification for an insanity defense is different in most states, as are the requirements for the death penalty. The definitions of mitigating and aggravating circumstances are defined differently by state, as is the right of a judge to override the jury during sentencing in death penalty cases. Also, the requirement for probation is different per state, as is the punishment for juveniles and individuals who are mentally handicapped and commit capital offenses. When you read Volume Three: The Career Rapist and Volume Four: The Recidivist, you will then appreciate this difference.

You must also remember American law is not static. Our laws have been made to yield to technology that has allowed for the release of men from prison. With respect to all the data in the four volumes of Do This in Remembrance of Me, the persons listed as murderers or rapists or in the category "Murderer Status: " were individuals who at the time were apprehended, arrested, charged, tried, convicted, or suspected or alleged by the police in the murder of the women mentioned. During the course of time, some of these individuals may have been exonerated and the information was not available or recorded in the source documents used during the development of the books Do This in Remembrance of Me. We took extreme care to list as many convictions and as many exonerations and overturned judgments that we could find in the source documents used. The two categories, "murdered by stranger" and "murdered by unknown," are not clearly defined as the categories when used by the United States Justice Department. Our "stranger" category is only used when the murderer is known but the relationship was not clear in the source document. The category "murderer unknown" was used when there was no information in the source document regarding the relationship of the murderer and victim, the murderer had not been apprehended, or the victim was unidentified at the time. In some situations, some of the cases listed under "unknown" may now have been solved.

We did not intrude upon the lives of the survivors as mentioned in the foreword. It is not our intention to sensationalize or to make murderers celebrities. You may recognize several women who were murdered by men now made famous by the newspapers. We did not use the slogan names of these men. We saw no need to further the agenda of newspapers.

When the last name of a person is in brackets, this means that we were not certain of the spelling of the last name or that we used the last name of the parent because we only knew the first name of the victim. The word "mother" across from the victim's name means in most cases that the woman left behind young children when she died. The word "see" references similar cases or women who were murdered together or murdered by the same person. Again we caution you: please do not read this book if you have been a victim of violence or have a male or female relative or child who has been a victim of violence. There is no way to escape the pain reading the following passages will cause. This information is upsetting, but we must have courage. If you choose to proceed, we ask you to be brave; strength will come. This section will be hard reading, but as women we must stand together and face the monsters in life so that we can secure a future for our children and bring peace to our nation. There is no peace when there is violence.

To the men reading our books: you must become more aware of the possibilities of danger that your daughters will experience when they date, become engaged, or marry. You cannot help the women of this nation if you do not understand their problems.

Introduction

As you read the following information, please remain cognizant that you are reading case histories of crimes committed all over the United States. No one state has the same definition or punishment for any degree of murder, manslaughter or rape. The proof and qualification for an insanity defense is different in most states, as are the requirements for the death penalty. The definitions of mitigating and aggravating circumstances are defined differently by state, as is the right of a judge to override the jury during sentencing in death penalty cases. Also, the requirement for probation is different per state, as is the punishment for juveniles and individuals who are mentally handicapped and commit capital offenses. When you read Volume Three: The Career Rapist and Volume Four: The Recidivist, you will then appreciate this difference when appreciating a sense of justice for the murder of woman.

You must also remember American law is not static. Our laws have been made to yield to technology that has allowed for the release of men from prison. With respect to all the data in the four volumes of Do This in Remembrance of Me, the persons listed as murderers or rapists or in the category "Murderer Status: " were individuals who at the time were apprehended, arrested, charged, tried, convicted, or suspected or alleged by the police in the murder of the women mentioned. During the course of time, some of these individuals may have been exonerated and the information was not available or recorded in the source documents used during the development of the books Do This in Remembrance of Me. We took extreme care to list as many convictions and as many exonerations and overturned judgments that we could find in the source documents used. The two categories, "murdered by stranger" and "murdered by unknown," are not clearly defined as the categories when used by the United States Justice Department. Our "stranger" category is only used when the murderer is known but the relationship was not clear in the source document. The category "murderer unknown" was used when there was no information in the source document regarding the relationship of the murderer and victim, the murderer had not been apprehended, or the victim was unidentified at the time. In some situations, some of the cases listed under "unknown" may now have been solved.

We did not intrude upon the lives of the survivors as mentioned previously. It is not our intention to sensationalize or to make murderers celebrities. You may recognize several women who were murdered by men now made famous by the newspapers. We did not use the slogan names of these men. We saw no need to further the agenda of newspapers.

When the last name of a person is in brackets, this means that we were not certain of the spelling of the last name or that we used the last name of the parent because we only knew the first name of the victim. The word "mother" across from the victim's name means in most cases that the woman left behind young children when she died. The word "see" references similar cases or women who were murdered together or murdered by the same person. Again we caution you: please do not read this book if you have been a victim of violence or have a male or female relative or child who has been a victim of violence. There is no way to escape the pain reading the following passages will cause. This information is upsetting, but we must have courage. If you choose to proceed, we ask you to be brave; strength will come. This section will be hard reading, but as women we must stand together and face the monsters in life so that we can secure a future for our children and bring peace to our nation. There is no peace when there is violence.

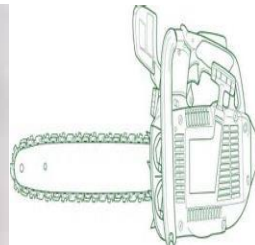

To the men reading our books: you must become more aware of the possibilities of danger that your daughters will experience when she dates, become engaged, or marries. You cannot help the women of this nation if you do not understand their problems. Headlines like this one appear in newspapers every day all over the country, "Boyfriend charged with murder in death of 15-year-old girl"

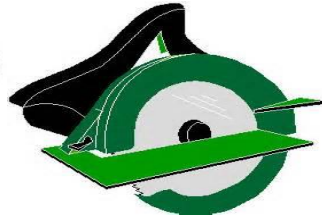

My name is Gloria G. Lee. I am the author of the series Do this In Remembrance of Me. I have taken great pains not to make too accurate a description of the injuries the women received as they were murdered. In a few section I was explicit but all in all I tried to stay away from how much damage was done to the murdered women I discussed.

But today my rage has taken hold of me and my soul says I have to write as I have never written before. The reason for my rage is I am tired of women being mistreated in this world. I am serious I am tired and I am now declaring war. Until I die every waking hour and every moment of my life until I take my final breath will be dedicated to the destruction of every man I see. I shall take no prisoners. They do not deserve any mercy. They deserve to be treated like the animals they are. I began my research hoping that I could find the cause of violence being visited upon women and children. I hoped my research would lead to prevention. But I found that prevention is not possible as long as some men think the way they do.

I began my research because I just could not understand the violence the fury in which the men killed their wives. I could see anger. I could see a person being angry at another person but not so angry to take a life. As I continue to research I discovered that taking life was a pleasure to some men. They enjoyed what they did. They enjoy beating their wives to death. They enjoy the thrill of murder. I also learned there are other men who not murderers but they cover their eyes and ears and ignore the violence visited upon women until a female relative of theirs is injured or murdered. Then these men want to stand up in court in all their rage and demand justice. They scream that the sentence is not enough. Society has failed.

Take a look at the weapons on this page. These are the implements men have used to kill women.

There is one weapon I cannot show you that is the weapon used to murder Evelyn Hernandez of California. Ms. Evelyn Hernandez was reported missing in 2002 during the time Lacy Peterson was murdered. Mrs. Peterson's death took over the news. No other woman mattered. Evelyn Hernandez' murderer is still out there feeling safe and smug that he has gotten away with murder. There have been no developments in her case.

There is a man walking the streets of America thinking he has gotten away with the murder just like a man who killed woman in California 30 years ago. The man was in the Navy. He killed a woman who worked as a waitress. After the murder he left the state. He started a family and became a prominent man. Finally, the woman's case was reopened. The detectives worked and worked until finally they had their man. Imagine his chagrin when he was arrested for killing a woman 30 years earlier. He thought people forgot.

Dedication

This book is being dedicated to Mrs. Nazar Hussain, age 66.

The murder of Mrs. Nazar Hussain is absolutely outrageous. Furthermore the statement by the defense attorney during her husband's trial further insults her death. Mrs. Hussain lived in Brooklyn, New York. Her husband asked her to cook him a meal of meat preferably goat meat. Mrs. Hussain said she had fixed him a vegetarian meal. Angry at her response Mrs. Hussain's husband picked up a stick and beat her to death with it. Once he is arrested and appears for trial his attorney says he should be excused for his actions because in his country it is customary to beat one's wife.

His defense was provided by a female attorney. His defense attorney, Julie Clark, admitted Mr. Hussain beat his wife — but argued that he is guilty of only manslaughter because he didn't intend to kill her. In Pakistan, Clark said, beating one's wife is customary.

“He comes from a culture where he thinks this is appropriate conduct, where he can hit his wife ... He culturally believed he had the right to hit his wife and discipline his wife.”

- Defense attorney Julie Clark -

“He comes from a culture where he thinks this is appropriate conduct, where he can hit his wife.” Ms. Clark said this in her opening statements during a Brooklyn Supreme Court bench trial. She said this in an American court room. “He culturally believed he had the right to hit his wife and discipline his wife.” America has a national law called the Violence Against Women Act. So this law does not apply if you were not born in this country and are predisposed to beating one's wife. Men born in Pakistan, Afghanistan, and Nigeria get a pass against this law.

First please note the defense chose a bench trial. The defense had the right to a jury trial but the gambled that a bench trial might work in their favor because the defense knew the prosecution would definitely select a few female jurors. Not only that I don't think she wanted to take a chance there the prosecution would select a black female to be a juror. Black women are not like White women they are not controlled by customs. They do not particularly care what you think; which means they are not inclined to hide domestic violence just because they are worried about what their neighbors will think. They will call the police in a minute. They believe in police protection. A career rapist was captured because a black prostitute believed she was entitled to police protection. That is correct she was participating in an illegal occupation but she made a complaint to the police about a man's conduct. Her complaints lead the police to a man who had murdered several women. Now examine this statement closely. And please note Mr. Noor Hussain knew enough about American customs to hire a female attorney to defend him. If he knew of this custom then he knew that the custom in America is that men do not beat their wives or they go to prison. He had to be deaf dumb and blind not to know of the existence of the Violence Against Women Act. He knew the custom in America was for one not to beat his wife. So apparently he wants to live in America and be protected by the Marines but he wants to hold on to his birth country's traditions.

So America is just a pit stop for him. A place he can be safe yet do what he wants when it comes to his personal life. Why come to this country if you do not want to change. America is not Pakistan so why come to this country and keep your insidious custom of beating your wife. Oh, by the way Julie Clark is not only a female attorney we believe she is Black. That must be a coincidence. Right. He has been in this country long enough to learn when female attorneys can be useful and he has been in this country long enough to know when Black people are useful. Black people make great scapegoats. If a man wants kills his wife all he has to do is kill her in the street and just say two Black men did it. Just say a group of black men robbed you knocked you out but killed your wife. Black people are good for something in America. They make good villains. Somewhere in this series we have written about several men, men in California, Minnesota, and Illinois and in Massachusetts who murdered their wife after leaving a restaurant or walking down the street or in a park and a black man was blamed for the murder. In Michigan a black man actually did kill a white man's wife only the white man paid him.

In 2012 Conrad Truman, 31, of Utah killed his 25-year-old wife Heidy to collect her life insurance policy - valued at more than $878,000. He blamed a black man. Remember Charles Stuart killed his pregnant white wife and said a black man did it. In 2016 A prominent Atlanta attorney shot and killed his wife on Monday in a car, blaming his fear of Black Lives Matter and "threatening people." Tex McIver, a senior partner at Fisher and Phillips, was in the backseat of a Ford Expedition when he shot his wife, Diane McIver, in the back. Diane was sitting in the passenger's seat while a hired chauffeur drove the couple from their country home to their main residence in Buckhead, an upper-class and largely white neighborhood in Atlanta. He had a gun with him in the back seat because he feared a carjacking. Accusing Black males of robbery and murder is a juicy tale. All you have to say is a black male did this or a black male did that. We are going to get this nigra for doing this to this poor man's wife. When in actuality a man was committing adultery and paid his mistress to commit the murder. We believe this case happened in Connecticut and Texas. Career rapist also hired female defense attorneys to defend them in court. This action is to make the jury believe the rapist has nothing against women.

Mr. Noor Hussain knew he was in America governed by American customs so what made him think he could plummet his wife with a stick and get away with it. Imagine this woman's screams as he beat her with the stick. How merciless can you be over a meal not cooked to your liking? The defense could not overcome the next door neighbor's statement that he witnessed a brutal fight. He heard Mrs. Hussain say she hated him. The neighbor heard him smash a beer bottle and said Mr. Noor Hussain threw his wife down on the floor.

When Mr. Noor Hussain was convicted the person who put the handcuffs on him was a Black female court officer. He will not be getting any goat's meat in prison. He moved to the United States for a better life but we guess that better life did not include his wife. She was to be treated like they lived in the dark ages. He did not take his wife to the doctor after the beating. She was sent to bed. She died in bed at 3:15 a.m. Noor Hussain called 911 and told the operator his wife was coughing up blood. She was dead when medical attendants arrived. By the way Mrs. Nazar was Noor Hussain's third wife. What happened to wife number one and wife number two?

Mrs. Robin Eckard, 45
Nicholas Michael Gabriel Eckard, 9

John Eckard, 46, became another man who murdered his family when he shot his wife, Robin and son Nicholas, to death November 4, 2009, in their home in Pataskala, Ohio. Mrs. Eckard and her son were shot while they were sleeping. Authorities believe Mr. Eckard had medical and financial troubles.

Mrs. Karen A. Edenburn, 44 (mother of 2)

Karen Edenburn lived in Peoria, Illinois. Her body and the body of her husband, John W. Edenburn, 58, were found in their home July 18, 2006. Their deaths were ruled murder suicide. Neighbors and friends said they noticed nothing wrong. Mr. Edenburn was employed.

Mrs. Pamela H. Elia, 52

When the police arrived at the home of Pamela Elia in Pima County they were faced with two bodies. Mr. Stephen J. Elia, 53, called 911 January 10, 2010 and told them he had shot his wife, then he shot himself while talking to the dispatcher. Her husband was a U.S. postal inspector.

Mrs. Rose Ervin, 31 (mother of 2)

Police believe that an impending divorce may have caused the murder suicide that took place between Rose Ervin and her husband, Fred Ervin, 39, in Bedford, Ohio April 2, 1993. Mr. Ervin shot his wife twice in the head then he called his father and told him he was going to commit suicide. The father called the police but there was no help to provide. The couple was married 14 years.

Mrs. Veronica Villarreal Estrada, 18, pregnant (mother)

Veronica Estrada lived in Florida. She was four months pregnant when she was shot to death in her home. Her husband, Juan Fernando Estrada, 23, committed suicide at the scene. There were numerous police calls to the home.

Mrs. Kim Evans, 35 (mother of 2)

Kim Evans lived in Hammond, Illinois. She wanted a divorce. She moved to a women shelter in Valparaiso with her children because she was afraid of her husband. Her husband stole her car and generally stalked and harassed her. Kim Evans was shot to death October 2, 1991 inside the city prosecutor's office in the Hammon Municipal Building. Minutes before Mrs. Evans was shot to death she told a police officer that she had seen her husband in the parking lot of the court house. Her husband set up the murder scene. Mrs. Evans was in court to answer to a charged filed by her husband. He knew where she would be at that given day and time. He slipped pass the police and security cameras carrying a shotgun under his coat walked into the prosecutor's office and shot his wife to death. Murderer Status: Her husband, Jacob Evans, 42, committed suicide at the scene.

Mrs. Ann Huethwohl Everett

Ann Everett lived in a Manhattan apartment in New York. She was shot to death in 1978. Murderer Status: Dr. Reginald Everett, 76, committed suicide at the scene.

Mrs. Mary Gail Maggard Eversole, 52 (mother)
Mr. Dwight Napier, 34,
Mr. James Roark, 54,

"I've known Bill for 33 years, ever since I've been in this family. He never bothered nobody as far as I know. I never even heard him say a bad word. He worked all the time and his wife stayed home. We've absolutely never had any calls on this guy. He's never been in trouble. This is the worst one I've ever heard about."

Leslie County Sheriff James Fred Davidson

"Not a day goes by that we don't speak of her. She was such a kind and loving person. She is greatly missed and loved by her family and friends. Forever in our hearts."

Mary Eversole lived in Kentucky. She was married to Bill Eversole, 45, a self-employed logger. He worked with his brother in law. September 19, 2000 Mr. Eversole phoned a sheriff's deputy and told him he had shot his wife, Mary Eversole, his brother in law, Dwight Napier, 34, and Mr. James Roark, 54, a heavy equipment salesman (bulldozer). Mr. Eversole shot himself just as the police were arriving. The deputy said Mr. Eversole had never even received a parking ticket. No one can account for the murders and the change in behavior.

Mrs. Mary Fangers, 45

"She told us he was just getting too bad and that she left him. I didn't ask her any more about it. It was too personal." Timothy Foreman, 19 friend

"This lady took care of people. "When my father died, she called every day to check on things. She was just very personable." When my father died, she called every day to check on things. She was just very personable."

Mr. John Reconnu, resident

"Ms. Fangers was especially helpful to the many poor and elderly residents at the complex. Once, she helped a woman find an assisted living center to move into. Other times, she would collect money to help families of residents who had died. She was lenient with others when they couldn't pay their rent on time.

resident

Mrs. Fangers lived and worked in Dallas, Texas. She worked for an apartment leasing office. July 9, 2003 Mary was shot to death by her estranged husband, Mark Fangers, 43, in the apartment leasing office where she worked while on the phone to 911. Mark Fangers then killed himself. The couple had recently separated (June).

Mrs. Julie Fay, 56

Wallis Fay was losing his home in Virginia. He reached a point August 16, 2009 where he could see no way out so he shot his wife to death then took his own life. Financial difficulties are a stressor that often pushes people to commit suicide. Their home was foreclosed and her husband had no employment prospects.

Mrs. Gina Feiker, 22 (mother of 2)

Gina Feiker of Everett, Washington obtained a protection order about a month before she was killed that barred her husband from contacting her or her children. But at an October 24, 1990 hearing in court to extend the temporary order, neither showed up, and the protection order lapsed. Gina Feiker was shot to death November 14, 1990. Her husband, Todd, broke into her home and shot her to death while her children slept upstairs. He later killed himself. Todd Feiker was showed signs of someone coming apart. He threatened his wife and others. He stalked her. He was seen outside his wife's home. Escalating violence is the onset of murder suicide. Once a man open his mouth and threatens you or others around you you must leave and never come back. No one should make the assumption that just because they kick their husband out of the home peace will return to their lives. Once you reject a man you are in the greatest danger of losing your life and the lives of your children.

Mrs. Mary E. Fernandes

Mary Fernandes was shot to death in her home July 15, 2000 in Springfield, Illinois. The coroner's jury ruled their deaths a murder suicide. The gun was found under Robert Fernandes' body.

Mrs. Odalys Fernandez, 41

Odalys Fernandez in Miami Dade Florida was shot to death around 9:30 a.m. March 23, 2009. Lorenzo Gonzalez, 52, killed his wife Sunday morning before turning the gun on himself. He later died at Jackson Memorial Hospital's Ryder Trauma Center.

Mrs. Patricia Murphy Finnerty, (mother of 3)
Garrett Finnerty, 11

On June 2, 2009 Mr. Kevin Finnerty of Arlington Heights, Illinois murdered his wife Patricia, and their 11-year-old son, Garrett. Kevin Finnerty, 46, intentionally set the house on fire to commit suicide. An empty gasoline can was found in the master bedroom. The fire started around 3:30 am. Patricia and her son, Garrett died of smoke inhalation. Her husband left a suicide note and there was evidence of an accelerant. Police say Mr. Finnerty was experiencing financial difficulties. Two of their children survived. Mrs. Finnerty worked as a high school counselor.

Mrs. Rhonda Fleming, 42 (mother of 3)

Rhonda Fleming lived in Pickens County South Carolina. She was estranged from her husband, William L. Snipes. She was shot to death as she left work May 23, 2003. Her husband committed suicide a few hours later.

Mrs. Cecilia Flores,

Cecilia Flores lived in El Paso, Texas. Cecilia Flores was murdered December 20, 1991. Her husband, Alfredo Flores, committed suicide.

Mrs. Andrea Floyd, 29 (mother of 3)

Andrea Floyd was living in North Carolina. She was married to Sgt. 1st Class Brandon Floyd. She was shot to death in her home July 18, 2002. Sgt. Floyd committed suicide.

Mrs. Barb Bour-Schilla Forte, 38 (mother of three)

Barb Schilla was murdered in Minnesota in 1996. Her husband shot her to death on the front lawn in front of her daughter then committed suicide.

Mrs. Barbara Munoz Forte, 19

``Why did he even bother to get married if he didn't love her? She was very, very nice, very outgoing, very friendly. She was happy to get married and she was all excited about the baby." Lourdes Cordina, 21, neighbor

Barbara Munoz Forte of Florida who was pregnant when she was shot March 1993 in the chest and head. She lay face-down in the hallway of her parents' house. Her husband, Carl Forte, 21, lay nearby with a gunshot wound to his head. Mrs. Forte had just called 911 and the dispatcher heard the shots. The couple were newlyweds. The couple had been married since December 5, 1992. The couple was living with Mrs. Forte's parents. Two police officers were in the area. They were out of their vehicles and were running toward the house on foot when they heard a shot, and that shot was apparently the final shot. The parents were not home.

Mrs. Theresa Marie Leiva Fuentes, 43 (mother of 4)

"The thing that is horrible to us is that this is a person who came forward and sought assistance to end a domestic violence relationship. To still have him attack and kill her after all of that is so tragic. "

Stewart Ralphs, Legal Aid Society of Salt Lake director

Mr. Hector Levia Fuentes, 49, was a mean hateful man. He was not satisfied that he beat and abused his wife for more than twenty years he decided to take her life. Theresa Fuentes of Utah divorced her husband December 21, 2004 and took three of her children with her. Her oldest son decided to live with his father. January 2, 2005 Mrs. Fuentes drove to her husband's home because her son was sick as she was taking groceries out of her car, her husband came out of the house with a gun and started arguing. He shot his ex-wife four times and killed himself. He often threatened the lives of his children to keep Mrs. Fuentes in line. There were several protection orders. Mr. Fuentes was ordered to a psychiatric hospital and had to take counseling to see his children. Mrs. Theresa Fuentes had recently remarried. She was driving her own car. Her new husband allowed her out of the house on her own and she had free use of the telephone.

Mrs. Dawn McLeod Gagne, 21 (mother of 3)

"I don't think anyone expected anything like this to happen. It kind of shocking. A small town, things like that aren't supposed to happen." neighbor

"If you put in the paper that this girl was killed by her husband, and instead of going to their grandmother's, the children went to the murderer's brother's house, people wouldn't believe that actually happens in life." Michelle Sherman, Dawn's aunt.

Dawn Gagne of Andover, New Hampshire separated from her husband, Roland Gagne, after he beat her Friday, February 14, 1997. Mr. Gagne was taken to jail. Saturday morning his bail was reduced to personal recognizance. He agreed to turn over his guns to the police and stay away from his wife's residence and her relative. He was also not to possess a firearm, destructive device or other dangerous weapons. He was placed under a 7 pm curfew and order to refrain from excessive alcohol or the use of any drug without a prescription. He was staying with his mother. February 18, 1997 he came to Mrs. Gagne's home blasted the door down with a shot then step inside and shot Dawn Gagne. He had threatened to kill his wife and he kept his word. He immediately committed suicide. The gun he used was borrowed. As usual there was a fight over the children. Both families petitioned the court for custody. The judge said there was nothing wrong with Mr. Gagne's brother having custody of the children. He gave temporary custody to Robert Gagne's brother. The judge said the relationship between the killer and the petitioner had no bearing on his decision. Take your time and research how judges award custody of children when their father murders their mother. The result may surprise you. How many families spend their time trying to erase the memory of the mother and cast the father as someone who should be forgiven, somehow their father was not exactly to blame for his conduct. Research the case where he man murdered his first wife who was pregnant. He married the woman he was committed adultery with. He was later convicted of the murder for his wife now the child is in the custody of his step mother. All during the marriage with the second wife the child was kept from his mother's relatives. Think of the pain these people felt. The child's mother was a twin.

Mrs. Lydia Grohoski 34

Stop posting bail for men in jail for domestic abuse

“The protection order is just a piece of paper. No one should be fooled into believing that it will solve their problems.” Ed. Grill, spokesperson Nassau County District Attorney

Lydia Grohoski was an abused woman. Her husband threatened to kill her. She went to the police and Mr. Grohoski was placed in jail. Mr. Grohoski was charged with reckless endangerment, assault and menacing. Lydia Grohoski got a protection order against her husband December 5, 1988. The only problem Mr. Grohoski was allowed to post bail December 8, 1988. While out on bail Mr. Grohoski kept his promise he shot his wife to death in her home in Cutchogue, Long Island New York City December 27, 1988. Murderer Status: George Grohoski committed suicide at the scene. Mr. Grohoski's grandmother posted his $10,000 bail. Relatives please stop posting bail in domestic violence situations. Your relative will become a murderer and the object of their hate will be dead. Yes you want to help but your assistance with bail facilitates the male's quest for vengeance. There police officers were murdered in Texas after a man was bailed out of jail for beating his wife. All over America mothers, sisters and grandmothers provide bail money to their sons, brothers and grandsons because they think they are helping but they are not. It does not matter who is right and it does not matter who is wrong. What matters is you do not want him to become a murderer and have a woman's children to be left motherless. Whether you want to accept it or not aunts, grandmothers and great grandmothers cannot take the place of a child's mother. You are not a substitute for a child's mother. So if you want to help leave him in jail, especially if he is an alcoholic or a drug user. When you post bail you become part of the violence cycle, you become a facilitator. Believe it or not most bail is posted by females.

"We're sick of it. It's frustrating to me. It's almost like suicide cancels murder. It disappears the victim. "[The latest victim] was doing everything right. She left. She was trying to get a protection order with her father."

Pat Murphy, interim director of the Center for Women's Studies at the University of Toledo

Susan Hichborn lived in Toledo, Ohio. Susan Hichborn was shot July 11, 2006 in the parking lot outside her West Toledo apartment building by her estranged husband, Lawrence, 41, who then turned the handgun on himself. Apparently someone called the police. The police responded in less than ten minutes. The Hichborns were going through a divorce. Mrs. Hichborn tried to get a protection order from the prosecutor the day she was killed. The order was not issued. Jessica Hughes said her stepfather, Lawrence Hichborn, wasn't a bad person. "He was sad. He wasn't a bad person, and I don't want people to think that." The divorce proceedings started in May. Ms. Hughes, 19, said Hichborn, whom she called her father, "couldn't take it anymore." "He couldn't have her, and I don't think he wanted anyone to have her. "I think they loved each other too much and they didn't know what to do." Police do not have any reports of domestic violence between the couple. There was a march conducted in Toledo after the death of Mrs. Hichborn. Danielle Davis of Oregon, one of the marchers, noticed the police quick response and said, "The police are here in 10 minutes. How long does it take when a woman calls?" In the 1980's two of the biggest impediments to female protection was the prosecutor and the police. This woman did not have to die. There is something wrong when a woman lives in a country teeming with guns and she is shot down like an animal in the streets. Something is wrong with this picture."

Mrs. Gertrudes Lamson, RN 50 (mother of 2)

When Gertrudes Lamson of Washington was shot to death outside her apartment, the headline read, WOMAN SLAIN AFTER FILING FOR DIVORCE; HUSBAND SHOT. Mrs. Lamson told the court and others that her husband said he would kill her if she tried to leave him. She should have believed him and left the state. When a man says that he is going to kill you, you need to take him at his word. You need to believe he means what he says. In this book alone we have discussed more than 600 murder suicide cases. Often times the assailant told his wife of his intention but these threats were ignored by the victim. The best way to avoid death is to make yourself scarce. Mrs. Lamson filed for her divorce September 1998. She was dead by January 1999. She was killed two days after her husband pleaded not guilty to stalking her and violating a protection order. Women need to understand there are some men in this country who do not give a damn about the law. These men do not care about the law, they are not afraid of the police and the hold judges in contempt. Mrs. Lamson was the nursing supervisor at the Harborview Medical Center and she probably did not want to leave her job or the state. She may have thought the courts and the protection order might change her husband's way of thinking. This is not so with batterers. No one changes the way batterers think except themselves. When a man opens his mouth and says he will kill himself just to be able to kill you believe him and leave the state. Mrs. Lamson said in her petition that her husband had abused her and her children throughout their ten years marriage. A ten year pattern meant Mr. Lamson had no intention of stopping the abuse. Gertrude Lamson did not believe her husband when he said, "We are both going to be dead," he told her when she asked for a divorce in 1998. Do you really want this to (happen)? I'm going to get the gun and let's just finish this!" Once a man has decided to die nothing else matters. Below we discuss the case of Margo Preuss. One of her husband's friends said he spoke to Mr. Preuss about his impending divorce. Mr. Preuss seemed alright. Then he said, 'I'm glad you talked to me.' I was telling him to get over it. He was agreeing with me the whole time" He was outside cutting his lawn." The next day Mr. Preuss killed his wife and himself.

Mrs. Jennifer Gauthier Magnano, 42 (mother of 3)

The system failed another woman

Jennifer Magnano was a domestic violence victim; more than that she was a victim that the state did not help. Jennifer Magnano lived in Connecticut. She moved to California to get away from her husband but had to return to attend a divorce hearing. She spent four months trying to get away from her husband. This is why you must quietly leave the state and stay gone. She was shot to death by her husband, Scott Magnano, in August 2007. A news article said a Bristol prosecutor refused to sign a domestic-violence arrest warrant against her husband. Victim Advocate Michelle Cruz's office investigated the case of Jennifer Magnano The report says police failed for months to advise Jennifer Magnano to obtain a restraining order against him, and police didn't arrest Scott Magnano despite abuse allegations. The report says state prosecutors denied an arrest warrant for Scott Magnano. Mrs. Magnano had moved to California with her three children, returned to Connecticut in August for divorce proceedings. When allegations of violence are made women should not have to appear in court or have to be in the vicinity of the alleged batterer. There have been a number of shootings in courthouses and outside of court to demonstrate batterers like to have the last word. Connecticut does not have a very good record on domestic violence.
